Plans For The Present;

Dr. Harry R. Henly

Superintendent of Haverford Township Schools
 Penna. State Univer., Ed.D.

Dr. Harry R. Henly, serving as superintendent for the fourth year, feels particularly proud of "Haverford's fine teacher-pupil relationship and the school's excellent climate of learning."

As Superintendent of Haverford Township Schools, Dr. Henly administers the policies set by the school board. He is the liason between the board and the administrators of the various township schools.

Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Ray J. Mentzer, is in charge of the selection and supervision of our faculty members. He reviews their applications and assigns an interview with a principal.

Looking ahead into the future, Mr. Mentzer sees the need for the development of independent study programs.

Except for emergency meetings, the Haverford Township School Board meets the second Thursday of every month.

Involved in policy and budget matters for the township schools, the board this year approved modification of the dress code; established teachers' workshops for reviewing and improving curriculum; and approved an ungraded math program for all students on the elementary school level.

School board officials constantly strive to provide the best education possible for all students.

Principal Dr. Walter J. Hall felt that the year 1969-70 witnessed "better understanding between staff and students." He felt that change in the day's schedule would permit more courses and reduce class size, making better use of the school's facilities.

Dr. Hall looks forward to the time when the high school can be run like a college campus. Students would have greater course selection and could take more subjects on an independent research basis.

Most students in Haverford have had the pleasure of coming in contact with Mr. Drukin, our version of a jack-of-all trades. Handling the Vo-Tech affairs, sanctioning new clubs, directing assembly programs, and advising Dr. Hall on curriculum and scheduling are but a few of the wide range of responsibilities Mr. Drukin held.

As assistant principal, Mr. Leute had many responsibilities. These included scheduling students, and handling the computers used in averaging grades, determining class rank, and doing research. The assistant principal also supervised the student teachers, office workers, teacher aids, custodians, and faculty members in the English, Social Studies, and Practical Arts departments.

Parent conferences, student discipline, and directing the boys' athletic program are just a few of the duties of Mr. Shiplett. "Never a dull moment" adequately describes the school day for the administrative assistant.

Despite the new rotation of guidance counselors, perhaps each found his immense job of personally advising some 350 students, a bit easier. Computers continued to assist the guidance department in schedule planning and printing the school's report cards. The department has concluded its second year of co-ed counseling with six full-time counselors. Dr. Paul Slater substituted during the first part of the year as a temporary counselor for Mr. Leute, who assumed the position of assistant principal. In December, Miss Margaret Ries relinquished her language department duties to complete the guidance staff.

On the individual level, the department is utilizing a device which, when given personal preference of college type, offers several suggestions of specific colleges or universities for that particular student. All of these planned aids helped make the guidance department even more efficient in its job.

To open the book of knowledge, one needs the golden key of interest. Once the book is open, the reader can lose himself exploring its contents in his mind.

English is the book and the golden key can only be molded with the help of instructors. Haverford's English staff proposed to "open" our minds and ears by helping us travel through the pages of literature. Over one half of the staff this year was new. These teachers contributed their various original and modern views on teaching.

If you were in a tenth-grade class you probably would have met the famous Cyrano de Bergerac; or, you might have been accused of witchcraft in the Salem trials of eleventh grade. "To be or not to be" was echoed by the patrons of Shakespeare, the seniors.

Other expanding courses included drama and public speaking, where practicing techniques and developing self-confidence were the objectives.

The golden key opens the book, but the opened book is another key — the key to better communication and understanding.

Below: Michael Wood confers with Mr. Corcoran on a point of U.S. History.

Haverford's History department attempted through its courses to develop the critical thinking of each student. By making use of the tools of the past, students learned to reason through the problems of the present. Some classes took part in the newest method of learning — team teaching. Various teachers lectured on relevant subjects and exposed the students to different views. The Ogontz Plan afforded student contact with other cultures. Haverford pupils listened to students from numerous foreign countries talk about their respective cultures.

This year, interested students experimented with a new elective, African Studies. The course made use of team-teaching. Some teachers delved into the aspects of local history. Visits were made to various points of local interest.

History is not just looking back into the past, but looking forward into the future. The way to become responsible citizens of tomorrow's world is to become aware of the problems of today.

"There Is No Royal Road To Geometry" Euclid

With such a diverse Math curriculum as offered at Haverford, it would have been hard for a student to leave without being well-equipped with a mathematical background for any career. A special course was offered for students planning for careers in medical technology or nursing. Those students who wished to pursue a career in business, found courses available to them that were related to banking, trading, insurance, and other practical work. Students enrolled in the college preparatory plan undertook courses ranging from Algebra I to Calculus and Analytic Geometry. A new Algebra II course was offered for the first time this year and computer concepts again attracted many students.

The quality of Haverford's Math department spoke for itself in the excellent mathematical qualifications of the students they taught.

"Science Is Not Truth, But Rather The Pursuit of Truth"

Paul Clemmer

Using the principles of the pulley, Tom Cannard demonstrates some laws of Physics.

From learning how to fly an airplane to dissecting a cat, the science-minded student found a variety of interesting courses.

Biology explored life patterns of many creatures including the amoeba, crustaceans, and the fetal pig. Foundations were laid which enabled the student to continue into more advanced studies of his choice. Chemistry, Physics, and Biology were among the courses that were offered to the advanced student interested in science.

Most of the work was done in laboratory classes. Learning "why" it happened was more important than reciting a textbook answer. Students were seen examining the hearts of worms, making detergents in Physical Science, or causing hydrogen to react with various other chemicals in Chemistry.

This year numerous field trips were sponsored by Mr. Ernst. This made direct observation more enjoyable because the student took a personal interest in his work.

While Science has made great strides in recent years, it seems that Haverford students will keep in pace with their conquest of the answers to the secrets of life.

Under the new leadership of Mrs. Cooper, the foreign language department held new goals. While first year pupils were drilled on mechanics, second and third year scholars delved into the cultures and customs of their chosen tongue.

Latin students found their study a first hand history of the great days of ancient Rome. They also found the verb conjugations and various grammar rules rewarding and helpful in addition to their vocabulary study.

French and Spanish students were heard listening and learning by the A-L-M method. After mastering pronunciation, students practiced verb drills and grammar lessons. By the end of the second year the pupils are well advanced in structure as well as idioms and they could speak the language fluently.

With German, the emphasis was on Literature. German and Latin helped students improve their English grammar.

Ideally, the purpose of the foreign language department is to encourage international travel and basic understanding of language, enabling the students to form friendships on an international basis.

Above: Miss Yast dictates a business letter to her beginning shorthand class. Below: Future secretaries develop office skills in the use of business machines.

Today is almost over and tomorrow, many opportunities may unfold if one knows where to look and how to go about looking.

The Business department took the responsibility of providing the "how" for the future. Its primary purpose was to teach those skills necessary for future employment in business as secretaries and bookkeepers. Future secretaries take courses in typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping as well as office practice.

Students first must learn the mechanics of various office machines before progressing to advanced subjects. Business Law advanced the student's knowledge in legal rights, while Merchandising and Consumer Education taught the difficulties of buying and selling. Well-skilled students found various opportunities for good job placement. The Business department staff stressed awareness, accuracy, and organization in all areas of business education.

Students can appreciate the experience and knowledge that comes with the mastering of these subjects.

"Art Is Discovery"

Anonymous

In all divisions of the Fine Art department, "getting with it" was the goal.

The Art department introduced various new medias which left the student open for self-expression. "Peter Max" psychedelic posters and modern art paintings greeted the arriving students as they passed by the art rooms.

Mozart, Bach, and Hayden together couldn't have produced better sounding choruses than Mr. Conaway. The harmonious voices of the Chamber Singers, Concert Choir, and Choraliers performed two main concerts during the year.

In the industrial division, students were engaged in four areas of shop: metal, wood, plastics, and graphic arts. Dedicated hours were devoted to the projects to make the final product reflect attained skills.

Again this year, Home Economics majors pursued courses in foods, clothing, child care, and interior decorating or designing. The wide variety of topics left a broad area for learning and enjoyment and a chance for individual projects and experimentation.

Many interested students found Driver Education a delight under the calm directions of Mr. Rozelle. Upon completion of the course, students enjoyed the privileges of their education while Mr. Rozelle prepared physically and spiritually for the next group of determined drivers.

The Many Faces Of Vo-Tech

The Vocational-Technical schools, Folcroft, Aston, and Marple, offer programs which enable students to learn a trade of their choice. Among the most popular courses are: Cosmetology, Data Processing, Auto Mechanics, Dental Assistance, Commercial Art and others. All together twenty-six different trades are offered and forty-three different schools make use of the Vo-Tech facilities.

An interesting arrangement can be found at all the schools. Students take part in directing the school's activities. Some take attendance; some prepare the lunch; and others manage the maintenance facilities.

At the termination of their courses, students who graduate become professionals in their trade and receive a certificate to show that they are licensed. After graduation some students obtain permanent jobs while others who have received scholarships, go on to private training schools.

Vo-Tech students have their own school club, VICA, which is responsible for social functions.

Below: Tony Gagliardi uses his dexterity to master leg circles on the horse.

The gym has become an active part of the student's life. Many students enjoyed the opportunity to come to the gym during study hall for a lively game of ping-pong or a brisk game of basketball.

Progressiveness characterized the Physical Education Department this year, and stress was centered upon individual motivation. Racing through all the major and minor sports, the boys enjoyed the vigorous activities of the gym. Perhaps the most exciting part of the program was girls' football. Boys were seen taking notes on the spectacular plays that occur only when a girl gets her hands on the ball. The girls also made use of the parachute in their rhythmic classes as well as learning basics of self-defense. The gymnastics program which was offered for all students gave the department the necessary balance needed for a modern curriculum.

The Health course included such areas of study as mental health, first aid, and sex education. Rounding off the roster, a seminar course in human relations, Living Today, was offered for the first time to all senior students.

Service To Please

What would our hungry stomachs and our dirty floors do without the well-trained staffs headed by Mrs. Nicom and Mr. Patton of the cafeteria and custodial departments respectively?

Custodial staff members found time to care for classrooms despite the heavy room scheduling which made cleaning a real problem. Because of the longer lunch periods, there was, at the end of the day, a considerable amount of work to be done in the space of one hour. While the seniors' "lunch-out" system, a successful program instituted in December 1969, helped to alleviate this problem as well as the overcrowded condition, it created another. Only a segment of the senior class had chosen to take advantage of the open lunch system. This left the thirteen women who prepare the lunches at a loss as to how much food was needed.

Despite the many problems which confronted the personnel of these two vital branches of the school, the staff has rendered invaluable services to Haverford Senior High.

School physician, Dr. Robert Hall, takes a junior's blood pressure during physical exam.

On an average day as many as thirty-five students make use of one of the least publicized facilities of the school — the Medical Department. Aside from administering to the ills of Haverford's student body, the medical staff was busy with other duties. Students were given extensive eye examinations, as well as hearing tests and general physicals.

It would be quite difficult for any medical department to function without some assistance. Members of the Nurse's Club were adequately trained to give basic first aid and mild medication while under supervision.

This year, for the first time, medical staff members did not wear uniforms. The staff felt that uniforms suggested illness and separation from the rest of the faculty.

The word "library" does not necessarily mean a collection of books. For this reason, Haverford doesn't have a library. It has a Learning Center — consisting of books, magazines, newspapers, records, microfilm, record players, and typewriters. Under the experienced direction of Mrs. Fiebert and Mr. Etner, our "library" was able to serve the growing demands of expanding education.

The 1969-70 Student Council, under the leadership of Rob Arnold, Jay Pressman, and advisor Mr. Samir Kassees, achieved long-sought goals for the students of Haverford. The council, aided by a smaller committee, the Student Forum, saw the start of a pass-fail grading system in certain subjects and the abolition of finals in the English and History Departments, and the revised dress code. Finals in other courses carried less weight this year than in previous years.

New projects handled by Student Council included certificates for Junior Varsity athletes, and the moving of the school store to a new location with an increase in supplies.

By forming a Student-Faculty-Administration Committee, the council found an outlet for student opinions about school concerns.

At the request of the council a candy machine was installed for the benefit of hungry students. The Senior Court provided a convenient place for students to study.

Student Council's concern for society led to a day devoted to study of the Moratorium on November 15. Money was collected for both the Mississippi Charity Fund and the Heart Fund.

The 1969-70 Student Council initiated programs which brought to a successful conclusion the reforms of both academic and social natures.

Students Honored For Leadership,

In the charter of the National Honor Society the highlight of the Society's purpose is summed up: "to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to prompt leadership, and to develop character in the students of American Secondary Schools."

On April 9, one-hundred and five new members of the National Honor Society were inducted. The students to be inducted heard their names read during the special assembly. As one of this year's students said, "It's the kind of surprise that's easy to take."

With competition being so keen, those people qualifying for recognition must rank in either the first third of the senior class or the first fifth of the junior class. All balloting done by teachers must be kept secret.

At the ceremony, Dr. Mark Shedd, Philadelphia Superintendent of Public Schools addressed the new members and their parents; Honor Society President Bill Wood spoke about leadership, and Judy Heimlich, Gail Kepler, and Betsy Fauerbach discussed scholarship, character, and service, respectively.

One Great Year — One Great Yearbook

On those rainy days when students came out to support their teams; when stiff competition was defeated by a stronger determination embedded in the player; when an actor missed the cue, but surprised his director by becoming the best ad-libber; where, they wondered, did the sun go?

"Right this way ladies and gentlemen, you are now entering 'GREYSTONES' territory, home of the sun. To your right, the school; to your left, the teachers; in the middle, the students; and leading the scene is room 330, 'GREYSTONES' headquarters, the place where all emotions are captured and preserved in the BOOK."

As editors and staff members worked to produce quality layouts and articles, Literary Editor, Denise Decina, counted words, and Editor-in-Chief, Lee Rubin, vociferously kept countdown to posted deadlines.

Although no dramatic changes were made in format, innovations contributed to the improvement and progress of the book. After weathering the usual number of minor crises and mixups, the staff members quietly stepped back as their composition took its place under the sun.

Although the letters THE were dropped from the FORDIAN'S nameplate, the school paper experienced considerable changes and additions of a journalistic nature.

Page one followers appreciated the monthly Capsule Comments feature which gave a brief rundown on school news happenings of lesser importance. As usual, yearly events like the class plays, student council elections, and the talent show were prominently mentioned on the front page.

Editorial page editors expanded the subject matter to include such diverse topics as college profiles, student and teacher symposiums, and discussions on community projects.

Winning teams in several sporting events provided plenty of material and enthusiastic headlines for page three. New teams such as ice hockey were covered along side the more traditional sports.

The 1969-70 feature page served as a potpourri for multiple interests. More bylines were given on page four than anywhere else in the paper. This doesn't mean the editors did less work, but they were blessed with the responsibility of fewer rewrites on individual articles.

Editor-in-chief Pat Mulcahy and Faculty Advisor John Fahey initiated the changes which helped form the FORDIAN'S "new look".

Do sandbox-raised "indians" meet a muscle-bound lady wrestler? Is life a soul experience or does death conquer all? Who knows? Who's mind is wide enough to cover all areas of thought, all different and sometimes exotic areas of concentration.

Pen and Ink lays claim to these experiences. The mind can travel through the deepest corners of imagination in their literary art.

Compositions catered to all people's tastes. For many writers the road to "publication" material in the magazine was a long path. The members became involved with the processes of creating a "masterpiece." While editor Jon Cohen supervised the literary end of the stories, art editor Louis Chanin managed the artistic composition. Mrs. Beth Rhodes and Mr. Ron Kinninger assisted the staff in their creations.

The mind is a powerful instrument, but thought must first be captured before it can be tamed. The staff, in their two issues of Pen and Ink, set out the "bait". The rest was left to individual imagination.

Pen and Ink — A Means Of Self-Expression

And The Beat Goes On . . .

Swinging to the melodies "Downtown" and "Scarborough Fair", the marching band astounded many of its first-time listeners by adopting many popular tunes. This football season, drum major Paul Mosteller again led the band in its precision marching. Behind the scenes, director John A. Trainer could be seen concocting the marching routine for the next Saturday's game.

In addition to a new sound, the band added spats to their white-booted ankles. Many observers also took notice of the crimson costumes worn for the first time by the majorettes. The color guard displayed the gold-fringed banner paid for by the band car wash, and demonstrated their ability with precision rifle drills.

The marchers were glad to see that Thanksgiving Day brought clear weather, enabling them to parade their antique car formation for the first time in two rainy years.

Novelty spiced the normal band schedule in performance as well as practice. Mr. John Trainer introduced many new methods to the young musicians to help better their individual skills and over-all performance.

In December, the band lent a light note to the Christmas season with its assembly performance. The band also looked forward to the Spring Concert where they were to play many of the newer popular tunes with appeal to the teen listeners.

Susan Ferguson, a dexterous flutist, was the recipient of three distinguishing awards including a position in the School Band of America. Susan also led the flute section of the Southeastern District Band which also included Paul Mosteller, Rodney James, Sam Nestler, Doug Ashley, Robert Grim, and David Nice.

All year long students poured talent and hard work into rehearsals, and their concert recitals reflected their efforts. Graduating members of the band left over one-third of the seats empty, but they took with them experiences with people who had a common love of music.

HHS Hosts District Orchestra

The Haverford High School Orchestra's Spring Concert climaxed a busy and successful season for the orchestra. This year started with a special orchestra-chorus concert which presented Handel's Messiah. The piece was again performed with additional numbers in the traditional Winter Concert. The entire group travelled to Conestoga High School in January for a well-received exchange performance. In February, the orchestra played host to over one hundred outstanding student musicians who participated in the Southeastern Pennsylvania District Orchestra. This group, in which Haverford itself was represented by sixteen students, performed an assembly for students and two concerts for the general public. The season culminated in a presentation of the Spring Musicals, in which all three musical groups performed.

The musicians were grateful to conductor Mr. John Trainer for his patience and leadership. Chris Teare, as president and concert-mistress also offered her invaluable guidance. Aiding her were Vice-President, Paul Mosteller; and Secretary-Treasurer Sue Ferguson.

Voices Of 1970

Musical variety marked this year's chorus. The annual Winter Concert was a success under the direction of Mr. Conaway. The Choral group combined with the orchestra to provide an outstanding performance of seasonal pieces. Handel's Messiah was performed with several student soloists.

The Festival of the Arts combined the voices of the Chamber Singers in a fine presentation. The Spring concert afforded the school's largest singing group with another opportunity to display their talents.

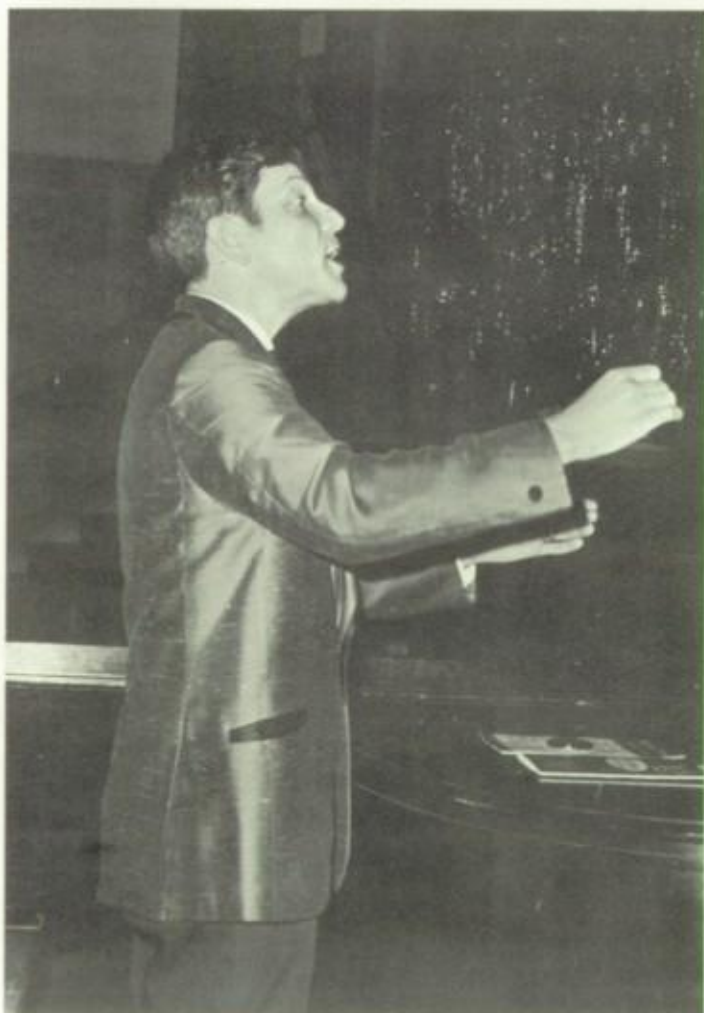

Jennifer Cox and Paul Mosteller, members of the district chorus, also lent their distinctive voices to the Concert Choir. Performances included those at North Catholic High in Wildwood, New Jersey, and locally, a Christmas concert at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The Chamber Singers, a small group of fourteen of the school's best voices, also represented Haverford at various special functions.

The 1970 Choraliers contributed to the school's excellent music program.

WHHS

Celebrated 20th Year

Haverford's radio station WHHS celebrated its twentieth anniversary this year by sponsoring a contest. Twenty lucky contestants walked away one dollar richer. In addition to this year's activities, on December 6, 1969, forty-six members of the staff, including both engineers and announcers, participated in a "marathon" broadcast. The station remained on the air for a record of eighteen hours.

Program Director Rebe Dublisky and her assistant Rich Schock improved the station's announcing power by adding new shows as well as "spicing" old programs. Musical programs, whose repertoire included such shows as "A Classical Gas" and "... All That Jazz," were shortened to provide room for other educational programs. These included "Studio Classroom," "Book Shelf," and "Rhyme Time." All major Haverford High sports events were broadcast. Newscaster Rick Fisher provided his audience with complete and comprehensive local and school news.

Under the direction of faculty advisor Mr. Charles Axarlis and professional advisors Don Casey and Charles Higgins, WHHS responded with one of its finest years in its two decade history of broadcasting.

JCL Explored Ancient Rome

Clad in sandals and togas, the Junior Classical League explored Ancient Rome and the classical period under the leadership of consul Bill Fisher and Miss Bernice Gilmore, faculty sponsor. Highlights of the year included the initiation ceremony; Saturnalia, the traditional Christmas party, and the authentic Roman Banquet. The official club newsletter, Acta Publicae, was published monthly and succeeded in keeping all members well-informed. The club also entered a car in the Thanksgiving Day Parade, collected food baskets for needy families of Havertown, and sponsored the senior name card sale.

Spaniards Traveled To Washington

Dancing, partying, and traveling were highlights of this year's Spanish club. President Claire Menedez and her members were kept on the "vamos" through the collective efforts of sponsors Mrs. Janet Cenname and Mrs. Delores Goldberg.

You might say that the club adopted a "be prepared" motto. Students planning future visits to Spanish speaking countries will be well acquainted with customs and traditions before they actually set foot upon foreign shores.

Fancy footwork sparked the interests of members after a session of dance instruction. In fact, one enthusiastic lad became so carried away with his latest ballroom accomplishments, that he confused his cha cha with his tango!

Students were also provided with the opportunity to sample Spanish delicacies at a Christmas celebration. These brave experimenters in food managed to survive the festivities without any Alka Seltzer dosage. Three cheers for the young "hot"-shots.

This spring, the Club visited the Spanish embassy in our nation's capital where they were accorded a gracious reception. The trip provided a welcome change from daily school activities.

French Club President, Andrea Mark, believes in making every precious moment count. With only a minimum number of meetings, the club accomplished an amazing spectrum of exciting activities. Humorous Professor Reyohs, portrayed by Curt Shoyer, who entertained the members at their first meeting, ended his performance with "kisses" — Hershey kisses, that is. At a later meeting, Madame Katherine Cooper showed colorful slides of France. Christmas found club members bravely celebrating the Yuletide season. Club members and their advisors, Misses Radbill and Besaha ended the year with a May 11th banquet held at L'Aubeige.

Checkmate! The victor of the chess tournament Will Johnson had finally proven his superior cunning with his knights, bishops, and rooks. The Chess Club sponsored by Mr. Tony Di Pasquo had involved 26 members in the challenge of checkmating their opponent's king. Four of the most outstanding players, Will Johnson, Len Leschinsky, Arnold Peckjian, and Bob McKinnion were also competitors in the PA State Chess Tournament for high school aged players.

New Clubs Challenged The Ice And The Water

In spite of stiff competition, and inexperience in the game of Ice Hockey, and hampered by lack of money and equipment, the Crimson and Gold finished third making the Stanley Cup Playoffs. The turning point of the season was the addition of Coach Galli to the team. He turned round meatball Nick Giangjullio into a respected goalie, who received the leagues most improved player award. Senior John Janoski was presented the grad award. Leader in playoff penalties, Pete MacGregor, received a trophy for the Fords best defensive player. The only experienced player on the team, Ron Lindberg, led the team in scoring and received a trophy for best offensive player. With experience and confidence, the team feels that they have a good chance to take first place next year.

Every Tuesday afternoon, twenty-five people gather to study Science. No, they are not crazy; just interested — interested in learning more about the science of Oceanography. The club, headed by acting Presidents Bruce Martin and Tom Canard, and assisted by advisors Mr. Bennett and Mr. Elliot, took trips to Cape May where water samples of the sea and river estuaries were taken and studied. Sea life and the effects of water temperatures upon it was also studied. Suntans came free with the investigations. Oceanography is a relatively new science, and the club hopes that its endeavors make others aware of the science.

This was a busy year for the members of the Future Homemakers of America. Their activities ranged from learning the proper way in which to apply makeup to participating in a formal fashion show. Fund raising activities included the Yuletide candy cane sale, cupcakes and stationery sales. The money subsidized members who attended the Annual Spring Convention in Pittsburgh. The club was under the supervision of President Cindy Mitchell and sponsors Miss Marian Mellinger and Mrs. Carol Dixon. Under their guidance the girls learned to use home economics on a practical level in school, home, and the community.

Under the leadership of school nurses Miss Elise Reuss and Mrs. Katherine Yerger, the Nurse's Club studied and applied good health practices. Club members aided in the treating of sick students and teachers as they assisted the nurses in their daily infirmary routines. Club president Barbara Orazi supervised presentations from the Air Force, and local specialists and professionals in the field of nursing. Other activities related to the club's interests included a trip to the Overbrook School for the Blind and the weekly selling of soft pretzels to provide money toward a nursing scholarship to a selected girl. They also started a weight reducing club which guaranteed to make members lose weight through supervised exercise, special diet, and helpful talks.

FHA, FNHCC, FSA, FTA

Interest and variety sparked this year's Future Teachers of America Club. Led by Donna Micucci, club meetings were held on Monday nights once a month, and diverse programs were offered to the organizations members. Students and teachers from neighboring schools contributed to provocative discussions on teaching as a profession. The faculty sponsors for the club during the 1969-1970 school year were Mrs. Fiebert and Miss Greer. Through their efforts, visitations to several elementary schools took place. There the girls were able to observe skills and techniques used in the lower grades.

This year FSA, under the leadership of Mike Brachman, with the help of executive vice-president Larry Hirsh, changed the club into an organization for enjoyment as well as learning. Renovations transformed the club into a responsive organization. Interesting discussions, demonstrations, and experiments were among the highlights of meetings. Topics included a video taping of the dissection of a cat, "The Mad Chemist," and the Theory of Relativity. Field trips to Lower Merion Planetarium, Rancocas State Park, plus canoe outings all helped to contribute to an increasing awareness of the world of science.

For WWW The Word Was Mum

The objective, to further relations; the limit, the world. To some world relations might be too much to think about, but to the dedicated students of World Wide Workshop the furthering of international relations became their purpose. Under the supervision of Mrs. Katherine Cooper and Miss Elizabeth Ott, many programs representing different countries were presented. Included were Karate demonstrations, a covered-dish supper, visitors from Kuwait on the peninsula of Saudia Arabia in the Middle East, and, as a highlight, an international Christmas.

This year, World Wide Workshop continued its exchange program with other countries. A barrel was packed and sent to a school in Germany and Chile sent us a foreign student.

One of the innovations was the correlating of program with refreshments. Almond and fortune cookies sparked the Japanese program, and German chocolate cake and root beer accompanied slides of Germany.

President Debbi James supervised the success of this year's club.

The World Affairs Club continued in 1970 to provide "concerned students" with extremely interesting and thought-provoking topics of discussion. Officers Richard Goodstein and Wendy Cornfield combined talents to help make the club a success.

Beset by tardy and often non-appearing guest speakers, the club relied heavily upon informed members to lead the discussion topics. However, when the scheduled guests did arrive, their presentations managed to stimulate all in attendance. Highlights of the year's meetings included talks with a draft counselor and an exiled Rhodesian citizen.

The monthly forum sessions held at Philadelphia's Ben Franklin, a two-day simulation concerning the problem of world hunger, and the Model United Nations, were "extracurricular" activities in which interested club members could take part. Involving students in current events — the World Affairs Club did its job.

Concerned Students Listened And Learned

Interact Club, a new organization in the school this year, revolved around the key word: service. The club aimed for service and leadership, recognition of the family and to recognize all occupations as an important opportunity for serving the community.

As a result of their endeavors in community service, a Job Center was instituted to help Haverford High School students find employment. Several speakers presented interesting programs to the club. Students listened to such topics as "The Banking Situation", "Ecology", and "The Communist Threat". Discussions aiming toward youth involvement in these areas followed the lectures. President Steve Kamajian, Treasurer Jay Corley, and Secretary Roger Halls-well were looking out for the future of the club. Plans for the success of the club included the raising of funds to sponsor an orphan, visitations to age homes, plus the expansion of all present activities.

The Girl's Service Club, under the leadership of advisor Mrs. Sue Pass and president Debbie Sharp, initiated many new policies and projects. Among these was the practice of opening Service Club projects to any girl in the school. The club proper served as an executive, planning projects. Non-members went with club members to PGH and Inglis House, collecting for UNICEF and other funds, and helping with Goodie Days.

During football season, GSC sold Haverford beanies and ribbons, doing much to bolster school spirit.

On Valentine's Day the GSC sponsored Carnation Day. Approximately seven thousand carnations were sold by club members in the weeks before Valentine's Day — a new record. The money became, as is the custom, a scholarship to some girl from the club.

GSC was successful this year in its attempt to widen its scope and branch out into the true service organization.

City Tutors Helped Others

City Tutoring, Foster Brother-Sister, and Operation Swim are three programs in which teenagers at Haverford participate along with others from all over the Philadelphia area. These are just three of the many programs of the metropolitan Community Service Corps.

The CSC began as a tutoring program four years ago at Bishop McDevitt High School, and has expanded to include over twenty programs and just as many schools. The primary objective of the programs is to involve the youth of the community in working to help themselves as well as others. Haverford became affiliated with this group last year when some of its students began tutoring first to sixth grade students at Our Mother of Sorrows School. This year, the program expanded to include Mill Creek Community Center and over a hundred Haverford Junior and Senior High students participated.

Those responsible for running the programs at Haverford are President Betsy Fauerbach; Vice-President Bob Rusling; Senators for City Tutoring, Dana Axelrod, Karen Milner, Seth Frechie; and Senator for Foster Brother-Sister, Randy Ruben.

Thanks to the support of involved students, faculty sponsors, Miss Gilbert and Miss Greer, and to the Student Council, which has kept the project alive financially, the CSC at Haverford has grown in all ways since its start last year.

The 1969-1970 Art Club proved successful in enabling interested students to develop their artistic ability and sense of creativity.

Students enjoyed projects including copper enameling and making of colorful costume jewelry. Art enthusiasts shared their talents with the members when they were invited to come and lecture at Haverford High. Much time and effort was put into the 1970 Art Festival, and the work certainly proved to be rewarding. The group also contributed to the painting of scenery needed for the Senior Play, and vibrant posters used to encourage our team on to victory.

With over fifty members and Mrs. Janice Fanelli as sponsor, President Bonnie Shassian led the Art Club on to an exciting and successful year.

Artists Dabbled In Op And Pop

Guitars And Song — Top Hat And Rabbit.

To a folkalist, music was of the hard rock, blues or traditional folk variety and he could be certain to hear it on the first Monday night of each month. The club's eighty members attended the shows of live performances with a variety of musical talents.

When there was a desire to hear top-notch performers like Jerry Jeff Walker and Chicago, the club planned trips to the outside world. The popular Main Point and Bryn Mawr was one such expedition.

Jill Hoevler, president, organized the Hootenanny in April when the students themselves performed for their peers.

"The hand is faster than the eye", and the world of the magician is filled with tricks guaranteed to fool even the most experienced eye.

The Magicians Inc. Club was formed by Rick Goldberg and Marc DeSouza last year. At meetings, members demonstrated various "tricks of the trade". Club membership included Marc DeSouza, Rick Goldberg, Ken Abrams, Chip Goldberg, Lou Chanin, Steve Goldberg and sponsor, Mr. Jack Rybnik.

This year's boy's Hi-Y, under their President Gary Naughton, continued to provide service to the school and community. This spirited group of boys added a great deal to the cheering section at our sports events. With the assistance of their sponsor Mr. Lofurno, the boys raised money for the Ardmore YMCA, by various fund-raising events including the selling of mints.

For the first time, the counterpart to Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, was organized at Haverford. The newly-formed club had as its President, Debbie Erfer, and was sponsored by Mrs. Kathleen Kapp. The girls provided many services to the community, and helped to raise money for the YMCA, by making Easter baskets and giving them to sick children, and sending birthday cards to people in homes for the aged.

The Varsity Club is a small group of hard-working boys, who raise funds for sports events. Headed by Steve Joachim as President, Bill Wood as Vice President, Scott McClaren as Secretary, and Buddy Marucci as Treasurer these athletes sold license plates and pillows to support the Ford teams.

Haverford Brain-Trust Faces Competition

Coming from behind, Haverford's HI-Q team scored a total of 74 points during their meets.

Squad members Eric Haas, Ed Kavjian, Paul Shapiro, David Shechtman, and Mike Brachman competed against Swarthmore and Lansdowne-Aldan at Haverford. Unfortunately, the team placed second with 16 points at the year's only home contest.

In successive games, Haverford scored 33 and 25 points respectively.

The team has benefited from the experience of their new sponsor, Mr. Joseph Greco, who once served on a HI-Q squad as a high school senior.

Since April, 1968, Haverford Senior High School students — the Haverford Biological Survey — have engaged in ecological research in the Pine Barrens of New Jersey. Harry Ernst is the originator and director of the program. The team travels to the Pine Barrens in New Jersey some 70 miles away on weekends. After leaving school on Friday afternoon and traveling to their campsite, the research begins.

The research, this year, involved the chemical analyses of inhibitory environments. The data gathered on the trips was useful in determining the changed chemical environment due to the growth of certain species and the subsequent effects upon the growth of other species.

Ernst explains further, "Although much of our work is conducted at study sites in the forest, the more definitive studies are conducted in our research laboratory in the high school."

Since the beginning of school this year members of the research team have spent over 500 hours of their own time plus twelve weekends at field research stations in New Jersey.

Gymnasts Employ Aides Stagemen Master Levers

Athletically inclined young ladies found an opportunity to exercise their skill and leadership while assisting gym teachers as gym aides. The girls volunteered to help in gym classes during their free periods.

Under the direction of Sam McNutt, the stage crew assumed the responsibility of controlling the lights and sound for various performances in the auditorium. Construction of the sets as well as the decorating for the occasions, came under their jurisdiction. Their assistance in the senior prom and bonfire helped to make those evenings enjoyable.

Ushers Preserve Order

The Assembly Ushers clad in stately crimson maintained order in assembly programs. This year's ushers were skillfully guided by senior, Buddy Marucci. In June the juniors assisted at Commencement exercises and Baccalaureate.

Clerks Acquire Background

Members of this year's secretarial club combined fun and service to gain experience for future careers in the secretarial field. The girls headed by Jane Pettit helped in office duties such as filing and mimeographing.

One of the few athletic clubs in which there are no injuries and no strict competition against other schools is the girls Bowling Club. The fact that competition only exists within the club leagues has made the afternoons pure enjoyment. One hundred and twenty girls traveled to Wynnewood Lanes in two shifts on Wednesdays to compete intramurally. A team consists of five girls, and teams play to become the winner of their league. This year, the team names were based on either football teams or on the signs of the Zodiac.

(POW!) "I'll get it!" arose from the red and gold side of the net. "A spike never stopped one of the twelve girls of the Ford's V-ball team!"

To qualify for the eight team playday, the girls could not be varsity letter winners. Mrs. Pass, coach, led the team in the two weeks of legal practice time. With spirit and know-how, the girls tied for a second place position in the eight school competition at Ridley High School.

The cheerleaders led the students with inspiring cheers and exciting cartwheels, round-offs, and splits at the football, wrestling, and basketball games. These encouraging girls and their unlimited spirit helped the teams to realize that win or lose the school was behind them.

Headed by Captain Jill Sachs and Co-Captain Mary Spencer the girls spirited the boys' houses through "phantom visits" when they psyched the boys' for the game on the following day.

Leading this energetic group was Miss Sonia Yast, whose contributions helped to make the cheerleaders the fine squad they were. With the help and co-operation of everybody the 1969-70 cheerleaders were able to give the Ford teams the support they deserved. It will take a lot to top the spirit attained by the Haverford Students, after all Haverford is a number one school with the number one cheerleaders.

What makes a Harrier win? Speed? Endurance? Yes, but most of all, determination. Although the cross-country team was hampered by injuries, the team finished in fourth place, while the J.V. team finished third. The Fords rallied over their first four opponents 76-155 (Low score wins). Junior Mike McShane led the team as top finisher, and in the Delco Meet he placed twentieth out of 63 runners. In the District Meet, sophomore Henry Stevens finished in eighth place. On the whole, Haverford finished ninth out of thirteen teams competing in the Delco Meet and third in the District Meet. The team captain, Steve Kosiki, was not able to run late in the season due to injuries. Although the team's best runners, Kosicki, Hulse, and Lorello, were disabled, team determination helped the Harriers maintain a 5 win-3 loss record.

Sunshine Warms Homecoming Crowd

As we left the school on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 26, 1969, our minds were filled with thoughts of a dance, a queen, old friends, and a football game. It began that night with Senior Recognition, where the past lives of the athletes were "revealed". Afterwards, the bonfire was kindled and Upper Darby was burned in effigy. Cheerleaders tried to flame the spirit and we gathered to cheer our team. After the bonfire celebration, the excitement moved to the gym, where a crowd of 800 students awaited the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. Haverford students chose Tina Verde as their queen. The following day, before alumni, students, faculty, and friends; the Fords met their arch-rivals, Upper Darby, in the final game of a great season. Haverford emerged the victors, 20-0. Following all the excitement, we settled down with friends to a hearty turkey dinner.

Varsity Gridders Average 38 Points Per Game

Once again Haverford High sported one of the area's most powerful football teams. However, coach Stan Freedman's Fords were upset by a well-balanced Ridley squad and deprived of the league championship and a second straight undefeated season.

Four All-Central league performers, all of whom were seniors, led the Fords to an 8-1 record. Fullback Bill Simms was once again the team's leading rusher, while flanker Steve Rinaldi grabbed 12 touchdown passes to top all scorers. Rugged tight-end and linebacker Randy Grossman was named to the All-State squad (third team), and talented quarterback Steve Joachim gained recognition as an All-American. Lineman Bill Wood, Bruce McClay, and Vince D'Angelo, who usually gave Joachim plenty of time to initiate the team's explosive passing attack, were honorable-mention all-league selections.

Some highlights of the season included Joachim's setting a new state record for touchdown passes (62) against Lower Merion; a rugged defensive performance in shutting out Upper Darby on Thanksgiving Day; sharp execution in the 35-8 victory over Conestoga; and the kicking of Ed Ward, who booted 44 out of 49 extra points.

Joachim Sets New State Record

Quarterback Steve Joachim received an honor for being Haverford's outstanding football player, and according to his coach Stan Freeman and others the award went to the nation's outstanding football player.

Joachim consistently came up with spectacular performances in guiding the Fords to a 17-1 record over the past two seasons. He shattered several long-standing passing records, including the mark for career touchdown passes.

Steve took advantage of his size, skill, and poise to overcome the opponents' defenses, which were stacked up to stop his passing. He fell just short of 4000 yards gained in the air for his career.

Steve Joachim has the challenge of a college football career before him, but Haverford fans will always remember the school's history-making quarterback.

All J.V. teams play an important role in backing up the varsity squads, and the 1969 J.V. football team was no exception. The hard working boys, coached by Mr. Steve Juenger, compiled a 5-4 record. The high point of the season was a 32-8 victory over arch-rival Ridley, the team responsible for the varsity's only defeat.

Captains Pat Joyce and Mike Giordano led the team along with veterans John Ricardelli and Tom Hibbits. Ezell and Gary Williams excelled on offense as halfbacks. Many sophomores and juniors who substituted on the varsity level gained valuable game experience with the J.V.'s.

The Penncrest game proved to be the best of all cliff-hanger games, when the goals of Maddy Cotler and Leslie Douglas pulled the Fords to victory within the last minutes. Overall, the squad finished with a 6-2-1 record.

Against the Green Raiders, the Fords scored two goals to Ridley's no-goal game. The team fell short against Upper Darby and Springfield where a series of "almost" goals stopped their winning streak.

The third and fourth hockey teams displayed their agility in 5-2-1 and 7-1 seasons respectively. High scorers were center forwards Candy Appleton and Carol Antonowitz, aided by a strong forward line. If a Haverford booter booted a boot, how far would the booter-booted boot go? Well, for one thing, not as far as a ball, especially when soccer's the game and to win is the name. This year's soccer team was plagued by injuries which took many starters from important positions. However, injuries served to increase the team's determination.

The key to winning is the right combination of a tough defense and sure-footed "goal-getters." With the defensive actions of Glen Starkweather, Bruce Sibson, Dave Allen, and David Wagner, and the attacking line of Andy Mozenter, Bob Bon-tempo, Howard Druckman, Jeff Peezick, Tom Lewis, and others, visiting teams found keen competition. Despite early losses, the team bounced back defeating Radnor and upsetting Lower Merion's team, thereby eliminating them from title contention.

The J.V. team shaped up with fast, aggressive, hustlers and produced an excellent defense. Team effort helped them to a 9 win—0 loss—3 tie season.

Great Team! Great Coach! Great Record!

Rich Goodstein looks to drop off a pass as two William Penn Tigers converge.

Ray Edelman drives the baseline while beating a West Scranton defender.

Surprising the basketball experts and exciting the student body, Haverford's varsity cagers became the second team in school history to reach the PIAA Class A finals.

Under the leadership of "Delaware County coach of the year" Steve Juenger, the team captured the Central League title with a 19-1 (15-1 league) record. Only an upset by Radnor marred a perfect regular season.

Leading the powerful Ford offense was the one-two punch of Ray Edelman, a UPI all-state selection, and Steve Joachim. Edelman, the leading scorer in Haverford history with 1443 career points, averaged 23.7 points per game on soft outside shots and strong drives. His 43 points against Radnor set a school record.

Joachim was the team's leading rebounder and second in the scoring parade with a 19.6 average. Steve was named to UPI all-state fifth team. Bruce Hulse spearheaded the Fords' rugged defense and was the second leading rebounder. Hulse contained Norristown's Henry Williams in the district one final to lead the team to victory. Bill McIlmoyle, starting in the backcourt for the third year, quarterbacked the Fords' explosive fast break and contributed a 7.5 scoring average. Rich Goodstein and super-sub Joe Weber displayed their versatility while sharing the fifth spot in the lineup. Both were strong rebounders and excellent defenders.

The hard work of coach Juenger and all fifteen players helped make the 1969-70 season a most memorable and successful one.

After winning their first Central League title, coach Steve Juenger's Fords entered the district one playoffs as underdogs. In their first playoff contest the team conquered Interboro and set a Palestra scholastic scoring record. After a victory over Woodrow Wilson in the semifinals, a rugged defense highlighted the Fords' victory over favored Norristown in the district finals. Later the Fords toppled West Scranton to gain the Eastern Regional crown. In the state championship game at Harrisburg the Fords fell to Western Pennsylvania titlist Beaver Falls, climaxing their unbelievable season on a disappointing note.

Alone in the center with eyes focused on him, the match has begun. He knows if he pins, he will bring honor to his team and to his school. But to the wrestler, the greatest satisfaction comes from his determination and strength.

Haverford wrestlers work many long hours under the direction of Mr. Jim Jones to keep themselves in top condition for the meets. This was the first year for Mr. Jones as coach of the varsity team, and it was also his first undefeated team. Over a 3 year period Haverford has managed to win 29 straight meets. Coach Warren Brodt and his JV team also managed a spectacular undefeated season.

From bright lights and screaming fans, the team emerged to win their second central league title by coming from behind to a 26-20 victory in the Upper Darby meet. Jim Bianco, 95; Bob Mecke, 154; Bruce McClay, 165; and Randy Grossman, 180; became sectional champs out of a field of sixteen Delaware County Schools.

Perhaps the secret to winning lies not only in strength and spirit but in the assistance of the coaches. Haverford wrestlers believe in them.

Tankers Capture First League Crown

In a year of renovation and many firsts, the '70 Swim Team was no exception. Their record of four league victories enabled them to win their first Central League Championship. More firsts for the team were their victories over Marple-Newtown (first in ten years) and Lower Merion (first in six years).

The new decade's swim team also boasted some of the strongest swimmers in Haverford's history. Records were broken as quickly as they were established. Jim Shoemaker, a senior back-stroker, broke the 1000 yard record in that event three times, while sophomore Toby Koch set three new records for the 200 yard individual medley plus two record-breaking times for the 400 freestyle. Freshman swimmer Gary Starkweather showed definite promise by arriving at two new times for the 100 yard breaststroke.

Regular high-aspiring racers included Bill LePard, captain, Steve Kozicki and George Hunt. These seniors were outstanding in the 100 yard freestyle and relays, the 100 yard butterfly and the 50 yard freestyle and relays, respectively.

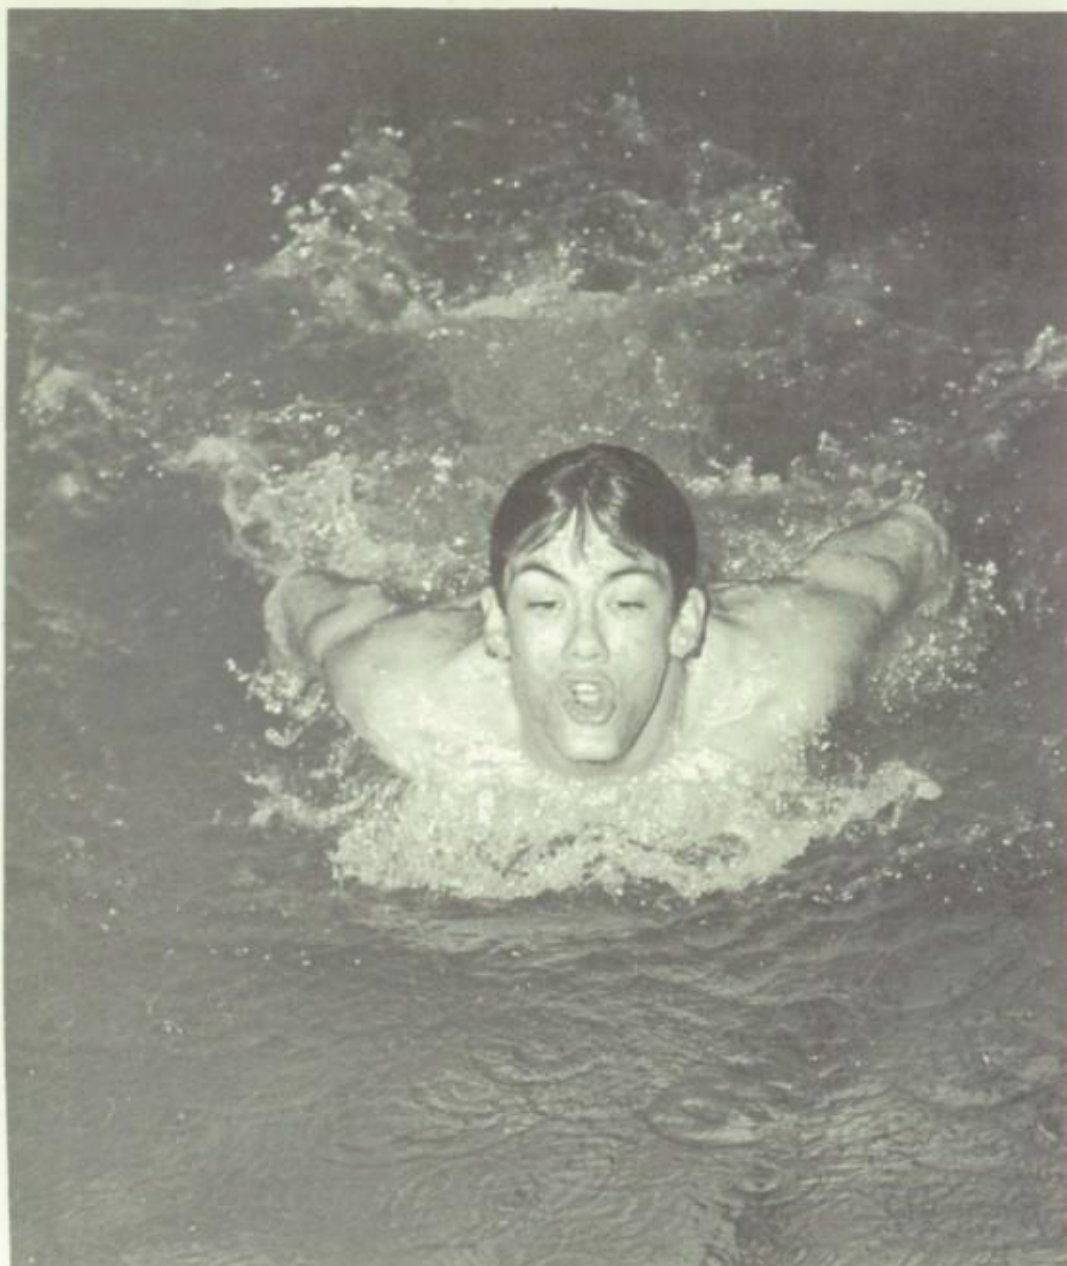

The "last" competition for the boys on March 7th at the State Championship was another first. The four 200 yard medley relayers, Jim Shoemaker, Gary Starkweather, Toby Koch and Bill LePard placed fifth in the finals; a task never before accomplished by Haverford swimmers.

Next year's team will not, however, be left "high and dry." Underclassmen Rich Kozicki, Gene DeLucca, Jack Siebold, Rich Clofine, and John Balwin promise to contribute their lightening speed to next season's victories.

Lots of team spirit and effort marked this year's girl's swim team. Despite heavy losses in the beginning of the season, Haverford bounced back with a 56-21 varsity and junior varsity win over Upper Darby. Several excellent swimmers added to the season. This was the first season for the swim team under the guidance of coach Mrs. Carole Dickson, a newcomer to the school district. Her drive and leadership helped to boost team determination as well as team spirit.

Strenuous practices were carried out during the weeks at the YMCA in Ardmore. Improvement and endurance were the key drives. The team, which consisted of many fine swimmers, was captained by senior Pam Prowell. Pam proved herself one of the best all-round swimmers in the district. An excellent backstroker, co-captain Margie Morrow boosted the scores in many meets. Freshman Rose Ann Kosicki will be one of the brighter stars in the team's future, and the future is promising.

"Enthusiasm makes men strong. It wakes them up, brings out their latent powers, keeps up incessant action, and impels to tasks requiring strength." Inspirational messages such as these provided by coaches Diane Reynolds and Valerie Walchak were the incentive for Haverford's girls' basketball. Team captains Tina Verdi and Lynn Reichert provided leadership on and off the court.

Outstanding performances were contributed all season long by many team members. Senior Tina Verdi was noted for her good outside shots, while senior Maddy Cotler proved versatile in both offense and defense. On defense, senior Debbie Sharp pulled in the rebounds. Lone junior starter Debbie Knopman was high scorer with an average of nine points per game. A complete team effort and a "clutch" basket by Debbie Knopman in the final nine seconds of the game combined to make the victory over Springfield one of the highlights of the season.

Haverford continued its State Volleyball supremacy, powering its way to an unprecedented fifth consecutive P.I.A.A. State Volleyball Championship at Penn State University on April 18.

In the opening round of the 33rd annual State Volleyball Tournament, the Fords defeated Tunkhannock (Scranton-area) 15-10, 12-15, 15-7 in the hardest fought match of the double elimination tournament. The Fords then defeated Northeastern (York Co.) 15-4, 15-11; and a fine Townville team (Erie Co.) 15-4, 15-6. In the final, Haverford swept by Tunkhannock 15-6, 15-2 for the State title.

In District play, Haverford defeated West Chester, Avon Grove, and Springfield to win its seventh consecutive District One Championship.

Starting spikers Ed Ward (Captain), our most consistent point getter, Larry Boland, Bruce Sibson, and Bob Steele led the powerful Ford attack.

The fine setting of Dave McKeighan and Steve Graboyes was instrumental in making the spikers effective. John Buchakjian, and Dave Mikionis gave the squad great depth.

Allen's Arm Led Ford Attack

As the completion of the first half of the season approached, the Haverford High nine was sitting in the driver's seat with 9 wins, and no defeats.

Most of the credit for the Fords' success must go to the defense. Dave Allen, who has always had a major league fastball, developed a vastly improved curve. The brawny southpaw was assisted on the mound by a Johnny-come-lately; lanky, bespectacled John Roberts. These two pitchers whitewashed the opposition for 40 consecutive innings. Even old-timers couldn't recall any time that any high school team has accomplished a similar feat. The hurlers were aided by some stellar fielding by Al DiLauro, Bill Kincade and Ken Mikionis. Not to be forgotten was catcher Rick Marquart. His intelligent selection of pitches steadied the pitching duo.

As the second half of the season loomed, Coach John Edelman was most concerned at the weakness of the Fords' offense. Most of the time the batters had been making contact with the ball, but had not been able to locate the open spots, hitters like Steve Rinaldi, Bill Wood and Tom Hibbits found their batting eyes before the season ended.

Varsity Lacrosse captains Tina Verdi and Beth Allen anticipated a smooth season with a lot of unprecedented victories. With many of last year's agile cradlers returning, victory was accomplished with ease. Miss Valerie Walchak never neglected her responsibilities in getting her team in shape. A daily mile run managed to do the trick. As a group of one of the league's best passers (with good aim) "les femmes" scored as high as seventeen goals in one game!

In the process of building a varsity team, the jayvees have large boots to fill, but are determined to do it! Junior Jamie Wakefield contributed her leadership ability as captain and as an able cradler on the field. The spirited ladies had a deep-rooted desire to win — no surprise to Coach Miss Reynolds, as she knows it is an important ingredient of victory.

Unique this year were the third and fourth teams with coach Miss Gwen Steigelman, far from a novice herself. Captains Candy Appleton and Barbara Pittner claimed that most of the players showed vast improvements throughout the season.

Stickmen Defeated L.M.—First In Four Years

This year's lacrosse team had the benefit of having its starting midfield back from last year. Support from Ed Ward, Bart Peltzman, and co-captains Bruce McClay and Niles Parker gave Haverford High the strongest midfield in the league.

Under the head coach John Scott, spirit was high and the cradlers looked forward to a winning season. Highlight games were played against front running teams, Harriton and Abington. Deep-rooted desire brought Haverford's first victory over Lower Merion in four years!

The Ford attack added a strong offensive punch. Attackmen Gary Hunter and Bruce Sibson contributed to the strength of the '70 lacrosse team. The season's defense was relatively new, with the exception of Fran Rogai. Tink Weest did an excellent job of goal tending and the defensemen were able to keep their opponents limited to minimal scores.

At the firing of the gun, a runner takes off and doesn't look behind, but keeps running until he reaches that finish line, free at last.

The vaulter, with pole in hand and eyes on the bar, knows that there is only one way to get over that bar; he uses that knowledge, and if he has the strength and skill, he will make it. Stepping into the running zone, he now has one thought in mind; he will make that pole vault the best. He is over; he is free.

Performances such as these were shown by the track stars of Haverford. Bruce Hulse, Wayne Michaelcavage and Tony Ferguson led the Fords to a good start in early meets. In later meets, the ability displayed by the other team members helped decisive wins over opponents. Distance runners out ran previous records and sprinters showed their talent in team victories.

Long hours of practice in the field events showed in the excellent performances by Mark and Brian Mondischein in the pole vault, Wayne Michaelcavage in the high jump and John Riccadellie in the shotput.

Track places the spotlight on the individual in an event. Team backing often helped the soloist to remember that someone was behind him supporting him through the trials of winning a meet.

Intramural competition enriched the lives of many students, male and female, during the annual program of assorted athletics. During the fall, novelty spiced the football competition with a squad of feminine tacklers, agreeing to play with a slight revision of rules.

Ping-pong, basketball and softball: all gave students some athletic stimulation without inter-scholastic pressure. Girl's volleyball, requiring tryouts, limited their squad to other than varsity letter winners. The spikettes play other central league schools in a playday where they regularly place among the top three.

Under the supervision of Mr. Mike McMillen, the intramural program was a complete success. Both players and spectators enjoyed the closing activity, the evening softball league.

Boys or girls, the atmosphere of relaxed enjoyment permeated the intramural events.

The boy's tennis team started off their season with a rousing 5-0 victory over Swarthmore. The Fords, led by captain and number one man, Joel Lubber, then bowed to a strong Lower Merion squad. The score belied the closeness of this match. A tough combination of Ed Hersch and Greg High scored the only victory against Lower Merion. Playing singles were sophomores Chris High and veterans Steve Strelsin and Jedd Miller.

A fine J.V. squad stood ready throughout the season to serve as replacements on the varsity squad. J.V. players also found competition in matches on their own ladder.

Spirit and devotion characterized this year's girl's tennis team, under the leadership of coach Miss Sue Keylor. Plagued by inexperience, the girls made an impressive showing in the rough Central League competition. The team relied heavily on the strength and consistency of the three singles players, Debbie Knopman, Linda Tegtmeier, and Sally Stotter, to pull them through in the tight matches. The two doubles teams show great promise for next year, since they consist primarily of juniors and sophomores. The patience and perseverance Miss Keylor showed with this year's team greatly boosted the aspirations for girl's tennis in '71.

Keglers And Golfmen Added Class To Sports

With ten pins to go and ball in hand, one of the keglers puts all his concentration into — a strike! Wednesdays at Gehris Lanes, the Ford's bowlers worked out kinks in their form.

Finishing two games behind competitors Ridley and Upper Darby, the squad finished in third place in the league. Both varsity and junior varsity teams were outstanding and showed much improvement.

Captain Nick Fanelli led the team to a city wide tournament at Broad and Olney Lanes where the boys exhibited their improvement from dedicated weekly practices. Although the boys got little recognition throughout the year they represented well the tenacity of the Haverford way.

Successful seasons in golf depend upon many variables: the weather, the condition of the golf course, and the most important factor, the ability of the golfers. For the first time in many years, Haverford Fords placed high in the Central League.

The golf team was fortunate in having three returning starters from last year. Bud Marucci, in the number one position, followed by Fred Hays in the second position, and in the number four slot, Mike Rosengarten.

Haverford golfers were off to a good beginning, winning over rival Upper Darby 10 to 5. As the season progressed, players improved their handicaps as well as team standings.

RELAXATION

"Rascals are always sociable, and the chief sign that a man has any nobility in his character is the little pleasure he takes in others' company."

Arthur Schopenhauer

Over fifty seniors participated in this year's class production, The Whole Town's Talking. Originally written as a roaring twenties satire, Haverford's version included production numbers and a silent film produced by students.

Curt Shoyer, Lee Brotsker, Rick Applegate, Lou Chanin, Janice Reeder, Sheryl Auerbach, Candi Horn, and Marianna Estrada headed the large company of actors in the John Emerson and Anita Loos' spoof involving a plot to make social-minded Ethel Simmons want to marry Chester Binney, an inarticulate slob.

Presented on two separate nights, the graduating class profited well by their dramatic undertaking. An additional afternoon performance was scheduled for an audience of junior high students.

As one of the stars commented, "The Whole Town's Talking will be hard for me to forget—especially since now everybody calls me Chester."

Haverford High is known for its winning teams, but the auditorium has become another "stage" for winning productions — this year's All School Show was no exception. An original theme — "Fractured Fairy Tales" — proved to be highly successful in relating one act to another. M.C.'s Donna Schorr and Rick Rossi explored the world of fantasy before two "packed-house" audiences. Talent was displayed through many means — singing, dancing, and novelty. Whether on the field or on the stage, Haverford students are not to be outdone.

Look Of Love:

A combination of a formal atmosphere and enchanted students provided a memorable evening on May 10, 1969, when the class of '70 held its junior prom at the White Manor Country Club. The theme was "Look of Love." The dinner, which started at 7 o'clock, offered juniors a choice of roast beef or turkey. After-dinner music was provided by the Just Men. Later in the evening Queen Chris Jafolla was crowned. Her court included Ellen Gilbert, Anne Herbert, Janet Siebold, and Sandy Kennedy. Class advisors Mr. John Dale and Miss Lucille Misirian felt that the prom's success was due to the romantic country club surroundings.

On April 11, 1970, starting at 8:00 P.M. seniors and their dates entered the Garden of Eden. Its mystical atmosphere of giant trees and colorful flowers was created by the skillful hand of Decorations' Committee Chairman Malva Rabinowitz. With music provided by the Pig, everyone danced, resting now and then on the sidelines. By 11:30 the guests started drifting outside, with their sights set on the exciting Post-Prom yet to come.

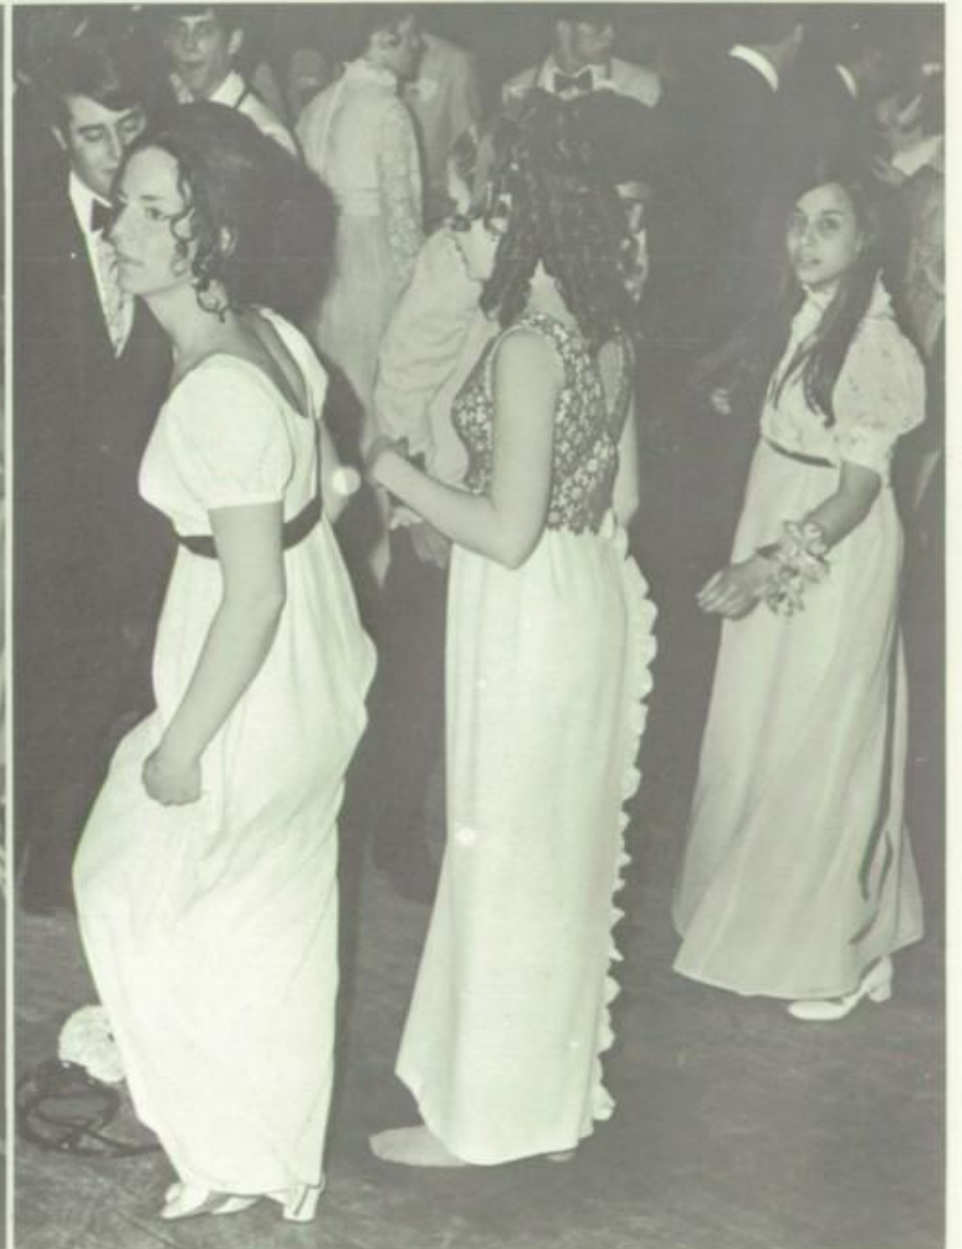

Beginning at 1:00 A.M. and ending at 5:00 A.M., the Post-Prom was held at the Log Cabin Inn. Here seniors were supplied with a capon dinner and the sound of the Matchbox. All considered, this prom was certainly a night to remember.

As Juniors We Visited Mt. Airy Lodge

The Haverford faculty sponsored the school's first annual dinner and talent show on January 31. Students enjoyed a scrumptious spaghetti dinner, prepared under the "watchful" eye of Mr. Grayboyes. The show that followed offered the teachers a chance to exhibit their talent (?). Above: Mrs. Cooper tells of Egbert's woeful story. Right: Mr. Trainer displays his "virtuosity" on the trombone. Below: Miss Dowd takes on "extra-curricular" duties.

Rally 'Round the Flag Boys!

As the curtains parted on February 20 and 21, the audience was introduced to the twenty-six characters of Putnam's Landing, a small New England town. Recently added to their Puritan citizenry was a missile base full of soldiers who sparked the romantic lives of the town girls.

Each character was marked for his comical idiosyncracies, including Betty, a garbage maniac and Mildred, a prudish matron. Indecision marked attractive school teacher Maggie Larkin's romance with Guido Di Maggio, a public relations officer, as she wavered between love and psychology. With Grace Bannerman, the problem washer, community involvement left her little time for the duties of a housewife. Harry, her husband, expressed his discontent by leaving her, but the marriage was soon reconciled.

Aided by his assistant Miss Susan Gibson, Mr. Frank Chango could be seen directing the junior players, during the rehearsals for the production. Together they gave the cast some fruitful experiences in acting. To the junior class, the play was more than a show, it was proof of the existence of talented actors and actresses and a willing and able production staff.

FOUNDATION

"There would be no great ones if there were no little ones."

George Herbert

The school year of 1969-1970 proved to be a successful one to the members of the sophomore Executive Council. Impelled by an enthusiastic student body, President Toby Koch sparked the scene by heading up several prosperous events.

Occuring in fall, the "Battle of the Bands" demonstrated to be one of the years most rewarding dances when it managed to raise four hundred dollars for the sophomore class trip. The staff also helped to improve the relationship between students and faculty by working with the members of the junior and senior executive councils.

Efficiency, unlimited interest, and school spirit were just a few of the important factors that helped to produce an extremely successful year for the sophomore Executive Council.

The Junior class looked forward to an exciting year and those hopes became realized under the leadership of President, David Gold; Vice-President, Barbara Finelli; Secretary, Cindy Mitchell; and Treasurer, Cathy Carr. The junior executive committee helped plan and organize all junior class activities and they started off the year by sponsoring a Be-in, at the Algates Estate. Their class trip was to Mount Airy Lodge in the Pocos, where they enjoyed skiing, swimming, sledding and other activities. The Downingtown Motor Inn was the site for their Junior Dinner Dance. Other events such as a folk-rock festival and computer dance served as fund raising events. Judging from this year's fun and activity, the Senior Class of 1970-71 should certainly be something to watch.

The class of 1971, accompanied by Miss Anne Gilbert and Mr. Joseph Greco, spent January 24 at Mount Airy Lodge in the Poconos. There they enjoyed skiing at Big Boulder, swimming, tobogganing, snow-mobiling, and numerous other resort activities. After an enjoyable dinner, juniors danced to the music of a live combo. The "bleary-eyed" travelers then returned to Haverford.

Juniors Journeyed To Winter Wonderland

AMBITION

"As the world lies sleeping, I look out my window and watch; And watch the silence, that was once life bustling; Creeping are the shadows that stretch across the land; My face is pressed against the pane, barely seen but there; So — as quietness shadows the earth, I count the many footprints in the sand and on the pavement of life; And, although I am but a speck of something living; I vow to God that before my lifetime passes, the world will know I was here . . ."

Dear Marianna,

It's very difficult for me to say what I feel for you after all the crap we've been through together. From health in 10th grade to my sweet 16 to the senior prom we stuck it out - and very well at that. A friend is hard to find - especially one that will listen and talk and understand. We communicate beautifully - you with your mouth and me with mine. (Those mouths sure got us in a lot of trouble, too, huh?) Together we went through school, together through the station, and now even together through your difficulties with mom + dad and Bill. I'll never forget the nite that I got kicked out of the Christmas concert and when I went to suck, you + Bill were the only ones who cared enough to come see what was wrong. It's times like these when one really wonders about friends and friendships and the world - in general.

And so, in this little bit of space I have I must thank you. Thank you for being my "sister" and for being my dearest friend in times of need. For being there when I needed you and for advising me when I didn't. What can I say except Thank you for being.

Always,

Rebe

Dear Stretch, the Remember always the fun times at Baberford
Stay as great as you are now, and best of luck in all you do. Love,
Mary "Raisin" Milano

Dear Stretch,

Have a great summer. Come back + see me at W H S. Remember the top of the Auditorium, and everything else. Good bye + Good luck,

Love
Mike

The Hallened Halls of Stanford High will see us no more, thank God -
I'll be seeing you, I hope before the re-union, or whatever they call it - be reasonably good (which is the same thing as being reasonably bad)
and above all - yours

Dear Marianna

As you page through this yearbook and sort of think about the year gone by, you start to realize, as I have, that everything that has happened in the past year holds some sort of significance for us. I guess the Conestoga football game was what really started it all off. Not until that night did I really realize quite what you meant to me. Sure, we had been interested in each other before that..... I still remember one afternoon in the station when I asked Mike "Who the hell is that big-mouthed girl?" When she told me, I couldn't even pronounce it. But our mutual interest was relatively quiet until that night at Conestoga.

Other events fell rapidly, almost too rapidly, into succession. When I set up the PA for the bonfire, you were there. We rode together in the Thanksgiving day parade. You drove me home on rainy afternoons from Senior Play practice; the grief we gave each other during the play; the crap you had to put up with when duty to the station came first; how I worried when you went on ski trips; the day you lost the "5-hour" chess game; the 60,000 different carnations (all in different handwritings) you sent me on Valentine's Day; our trips to the Palestra, and finally those two long and beautiful rides to Harrisburg; the Darling Dancing Lunettes; the Talent Show (boy, did you get grief); your "attempts" at karate at the teachers' workshop; the night you fell in the sewer; that first Chem test we did together; lying in your basement just listening to Led Zepplin: yes, it was really a fantastic year. Knowing you had, figuratively speaking, turned me around to see what the world is really like. At one time I found it inconceivable that two people could feel so strongly about each other and I must say it is infinitely better than walking around in the dark. Like you said on the back of your picture ".... from the present, to the future; together." That's the way it is now — and always will be.

All my love, forever,
Pel
